USE SPRAYERS
TO FIGHT BLAZE
AT TAYLOR MILL

Spray rigs were converted into emergency fire engines Tuesday night as firemen and farmers worked successfully to save the Charles L. Taylor sawmill, between Arendtsville and Bendersville, from fire.

Workmen had been at the saw-mill, located near the Herbert Miller farm, Biglerville R. 1, earlier in the day. About 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening fire was discovered in logs and cut lumber stacked about the mill, and was rapidly spreading toward the mill.

Biglerville and Arendtsville firemen responded with three fire trucks but were hampered by lack of water, a problem that was solved by the spray rigs.

Sprayers from Wilson Brothers farm, the Herbert Miller farm and the Knouse farms were pressed into service. Farmers drove the rigs to the spray water dams on the farms, loading them, then returning to the sawmill where the water was transferred to the booster tanks of the fire trucks.

The new Arendtsville truck was pumping water and being refilled by the sprayers. The other Arendtsville truck was at the dam while the Biglerville truck did relay work.

Keep Night Vigil

Through the combined efforts of farmers and firemen the flames were prevented from reaching the saw-mill.

The owner of the mill kept his own sprayer loaded with water at the scene of the fire throughout the night to wet down smoldering piles of wood. A number of men remained on duty throughout the night and today until the fire was entirely extinguished in the smoldering piles.

Expressing his appreciation to the firemen and farmers, Mr. Taylor said that without the water provided by the nearby fruit growers and the use of their men and sprayers the sawmill would have been destroyed.

Three charges, of reckless driving, failing to stop at a stop sign and passing a car on the crest of a grade, have been placed by State police against Paul R. Riley, Gardners R. 1, as a result of a "chase" Saturday which ended when Riley's car is said to have "rolled over" on the Table Rock road.

TO SUPERVISE
MANAGEMENT OF ICE-STORAGE

Stockholders of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage Company at a recent meeting arranged for a reorganization of the company "to provide more modern facilities and to offer better products and better service to the people of the community." It was also announced that Delvalle Dairies, Inc., of Baltimore, will supervise the management of all operations. The local stockholders, however, retain their interest and continue as part of the organization. The corporate name remains unchanged—the Gettysburg Ice and Storage Company.

Operating plans approved by the stockholders call for a continuation of the business, both retail and wholesale, under the direction of William G. Schultz. Milk and milk products have been made a separate activity, and will be marketed under the title of the Gettysburg Dairy, with many improvements which include a higher quality milk, new bottle and cap, uniformed drivers and new delivery trucks. In addition to bottled milk, customers are now being served with other dairy products such as buttermilk, chocolate milk, cottage cheese, etc.

Another feature of the reorganization plans is that the company has become the local distributor for Delvalle ice cream. The gives the company a new product and enables it to offer a wider range of flavors.

Although it will take some time to make all the reorganization plans fully effective, it is felt that the earning position of the company will be gradually improved and that better products and better service will result, an official of the company said today.

Clark Scolds
Commy Truce
Negotiators

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Korean armistice talks resumed today with the Communists protesting new bloodshed on Kije Island and repeating old accusations that brought about a three-day walkout by the United Nations delegation.

Gen. Mark Clark, U.N. Far East commander, told the top Red commanders he fully approved the walkout which obviously caught the Reds off balance and brought a stream of protests from them.

In a letter delivered to North Korean Gen. Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai, Clark wrote:

"Delegates of the United Nations Command have endured for many days your maliciously false charges based on distortions and half truths presented in plenary sessions only for propaganda purposes. Their patience at all times has been commendable. The manner in which they have conducted negotiations meets with my full approval."

Repulse Red Attack

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United Nations infantrymen using bayonets and grenades early today beat back 200 Chinese Reds attacking a vital hill on the Korean Western Front.

A battalion of Reds—about 750 men—supported by heavy artillery fire had failed to win the position yesterday.

An Eighth Army staff officer said 123 of the 200 attacking Chinese were killed in today's savage 50-minute fight near Chorwon.

The Reds broke and ran when the U. N. defenders hit cover.

The staff officer said the Chinese are stepping up their attacks along the Western and Central Fronts.

He said there was increasing evidence that the Communists are moving up more artillery along the 155-mile front.

Poor weather hampered Allied air strikes.

COMMISSIONERS
INSURANCE PLAN

The Adams County Commissioners today began the intricate process of surveying all of the insurance on the county's property with the idea of having policies re-written so that each year the county will have the same amount of insurance to pay, on the same date.

At present with 62 policies among 21 agencies, with the policies varying from three to five years in length, the county one year may have to pay only a few hundred dollars in insurance premiums and another year may have to pay $1,500 or more for insurance.

Currently the county has approximately $260,000 worth of fire insurance on its buildings, $89,000 on the county home, $120,000 on the jail and $60,000 on the court house.

May Increase Some

The amounts of the policies were re-surveyed in 1949 but the commissioners added that in all probability the amounts on some buildings may be increased in keeping with the increased costs of construction and value of real estate. The principal problem involved however, they pointed out, is in timing the policies that the same amount of premiums can be paid each year at the same date.

This morning John H. Bashore, local insurance agent, and Robert Johnston of the Camden Fire Insurance Company met with the commissioners to begin the survey. Bashore has been asked by the commissioners to handle the work (Please Turn to Page 2)

NO CANDIDATE YET CLOSE TO NECESSARY 604

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—At the Republican National Convention next month selection of the party candidate will be in the hands of 1,206 delegates. At least 604 votes, a majority, are needed to nominate.

As of now the Associated Press tabulation of the 1,193 already chosen shows Sen. Taft has 464 delegates. Eisenhower 390. Other candidates have 130. And 209 delegates are uncommitted or in dispute.

On this basis no man is close to the 604 votes that would give him the nomination on the first ballot at the convention which opens July 7 at Chicago. There'll be switching around on subsequent ballots if there's no nomination on the first one.

Southern Blocs Important

Of the greatest importance to the two men is the seating of blocs of delegates from Southern states where rival slates of Taft and Eisenhower people claim the exclusive legal right to be seated. Those Southern states are Texas, Louisiana, Georgia, and Mississippi with a total of 76.

Choice of the Republican candidate could revolve on the seating of one or the other of these delegations.

First step is a decision by the Republican National Committee which is composed of two representatives—a man and a woman—from each state and territory and the District of Columbia.

Procedure To Be Followed

This national committee meets four or five days before the convention opens. It hears arguments by rival delegations claiming the right to be seated, decides which one can be seated, but only temporarily.

This dispute is still unsettled, of course, since the national committee simply made a decision to get the convention started. When it opens, a credentials committee is chosen. Each delegation on the floor, including the disputed but temporary ones, is entitled to have one man on credentials. Then the credentials committee hears the arguments of the rival delegations and recommends to the convention which ones should be seated. The convention can accept or reject the committee recommendations.

Fairfield crashed into the win column of the Twilight Baseball League for the first time by upsetting Orrtanna 4-1 on the latter's field Tuesday evening.

Each team secured but three hits while each also committed six errors. Eugene Kane, Orrtanna hurler, and Weikert, Fairfield twirler, each fanned nine and walked one.

Fairfield tabbed two runs in the second when Sease was safe on an error. K. Weikert singled and D. Wortz doubled. In the fourth a pair of errors and another hit by Wortz produced a run. The final Fairfield run in the fifth came when G. Weikert fanned but reached second after the ball escaped Bucher, catcher, who then threw wild to first base. Weikert eventually was squeezed home on a bunt by Sanders.

Orrtanna's lone tally in the seventh resulted when Ira Herring secured his second hit, J. Deardorff was safe on a fielder's choice, an error and wild pitch, with Deardorff tallying on a delayed steal by D. Bucher, who had pinchhit and walked for Spence.

Arendtsville replaced Littletown as the league-leaders by gaining an 8-6 win at Littletown.

Singler hurled all the way for the winners while Mummert and Gebhart shared the pitching for the losers.

SIGNS POINT TO BITTER BATTLE IN REPUBLICAN DELEGATIONS

By The Associated Press

Sen. Robert Taft's forces today held the controls, throttle and brakes of the Republican convention machinery—an omen of a possibility of a bitter-end fight over disputed delegations.

Here was the lineup, adopted by the convention arrangements committee at its final meeting in Chicago yesterday:

Keynote speaker—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a supporter of Taft and a critic of Taft's chief rival for the GOP presidential nomination, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

One Neutral On List

Temporary chairman—Walter S. Hallahan of West Virginia, another Taft booster.

Platform committee chairman—Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado, for Taft also.

The fourth key post, permanent chairman, went to Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, who has no taken sides in the Taft-Eisenhower rivalry but has spoken well of MacArthur.

Ready For Red Battle

The Taft camp called the signals when the arrangements committee put together the men and the jobs for the July 7 convention at Chicago. It was notice that the Ohioan, whose offer to compromise on contested delegations in the South was rejected by Eisenhower campaign-ers, was ready for a no-quarter battle.

Of the 1,193 convention delegates—out of a total 1,206—already chosen, the Associated Press tabulation now gives Taft 464, Eisenhower 390, others 130 and uncommitted or disputed 209. Nomination requires 604 and in a squeeze the contested delegations—such as those from Texas, Louisiana, Georgia and Mississippi—could put a man across.

The keynote's rallying speech can do much to set the tone. The platform committee will put into words what the party stands for. And the chairmen, first the temporary and then the permanent, will have plenty of power when disputes hit the floor—disputes such as whether to seat pro-Taft or pro-Eisenhower delegations.

Mixed Reactions

The arrangements committee's action drew mixed reaction from Eisenhower rosters. Some said they were disappointed but expect fair play. Others complained. Eisenhower himself declined to comment.

The Army said it would take no action on the question of whether MacArthur would violate regulations by appearing on the political convention program. Friends said he would wear civilian clothes.

"Military Menace"

Dever told New York Democrats last night that the three generals are fighting for control of the GOP and comprise "the menace of a military junta." Wedemeyer is chairman of the National Citizens-For-Taft Committee.

W. Averell Harriman, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, also voiced an opinion about the Republican party. In a Phoenix, Ariz., address, he said GOP now stands for "grim old pessimists." He said the Republican party has been captured by "the weepers and the wailers," whereas the Democrats have a positive program.

Another candidate for the Democrats' top spot, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, addressed a rally in Washington, D. C. last night where he and Harriman are battling heatedly for the capital's six Democratic delegate-votes.

Miss R. Stambaugh Graduates As Nurse

Miss Roxey Adele Stambaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Marion Stambaugh, 418 Carlisle St., received her nursing degree at the annual commencement exercises of the University of Maryland, College Park, Md., Saturday. Over 2,300 students were graduated from the university at outdoor ceremonies. Miss Stambaugh, a graduate of the Gettysburg High School with the class of 1947, has accepted a position with the Western Electric Company, Baltimore, as an industrial nurse where she is night supervisor of nurses.

Gettysburgians who attended the commencement were Mr. and Mrs. Stambaugh and daughter, Jeannine, and John S. Tate, Adams House, and Mrs. June Rockey, Mt. Holy.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ANONYMOUS BENEFITS
How little we know, or realize, about the spread of our influence. Like the sunlight, it hits where it is both needed and not needed, yet wherever it touches there are benefits left behind. And perhaps with no one knowing the benefactor of these benefits.

Stevenson once wrote: "By being happy, we sow anonymous benefits upon the world, which remain unknown even to ourselves, or when they are disclosed, surprise nobody so much as the benefactor." I meet so many of my friends who are happy who could not trace for you the actual origin of that happiness. Even those origins are in the anonymous class. All they can confess to is that something very wonderful keeps flowing back.

How can we trace all our joys anyway. They come from so many different directions and from so many various influences. It is so pleasant to feel that we can drop a kind deed, an encouraging word, or some other definite benefit, as something anonymous without boast or praise—being conscious only of having planted something of ourself in some handy and useful corner of the world!

We all are recipients of anonymous benefits and blessings from so many sources that we get thoughtless and careless and forget to acknowledge them, or to fully appreciate their significance in our daily lives. But there they are, coming to us from all directions. From nature's great realm they are thrown about us. And how can we trace the anonymous benefits that we all receive from our libraries, schools, colleges, hospitals and churches?

How amazing are the secret chemical processes that form our coal, our oil, our gold, silver, and other metals, as well as our precious stones and endless ingredients that the Creator has banked in the good earth for the benefit of all. And we all do attain benefits too numerous to mention, most of them coming to us when least expected. I love that line from the Dogology: "Praise God from whom all blessings flow!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "So Many Hidden Things."

Just Folks

DYING TREE
I watched its foliage getting thin
On branches almost bare,
And called a wise tree surgeon in
Time's damage to repair.

"Too late! Too late! 'Tis all in vain,"
The knowing surgeon said.
"Before the spring returns again
That old tree will be dead."

"The leaves that should be green
Are brown."
"I hope for it to have gone,
'Twere better now to cut it down
Than let it linger on."

"Let death do what you've asked
Of me.
For that I'll wait," said I.
But still I find it sad to see
An old tree slowly die.

PARATROOPERS CRACK RED POW REBELLION IN 2-HR. BATTLE

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (P)—Tough U. S. paratroopers Tuesday cracked the Communist POW rebellion in a 2½-hour battle that made a shambles of notorious Compound 76 and uncovered a prisoner plot to seize the island.

Thirty-one prisoners were killed and 139 wounded in the bloody fighting. Autopsies showed that 12 prisoners were killed by their fellow Reds with crude spears.

One American was killed and 14 were wounded. The slain American had been speared to death and not killed by a concussion grenade as first reported. Only one American was seriously wounded.

Found Master Plan
The fight broke out when the POWs disobeyed orders to move peacefully into new, smaller enclosures of about 500 each.

U. S. Army Intelligence officers found a master plan in 76 to liberate all 80,000 Communist prisoners on Kojé. It called for the Reds to seize the island and its U. N. garrison and turn its weapons against any force from the mainland. Further details were withheld.

Not A Shot Fired
Not a shot was fired in the barbed wire encircled battlefield. The 750 Americans of the "Angels From Hell" combat team used concussion grenades, bayonets, tear gas and fists to subdue the rebellious 6,400 North Koreans. The Reds were armed with spears, knives, rocks and firebombs.

Surrendering prisoners were hustled off to the new enclosures. Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, the Kojé commander, had given the Reds a chance to move to the new quarters peacefully.

Die-hard Communist leaders chose to fight.

Boatner Jubilant
Boatner met the resistance with force in his campaign to gain uncontested control over the prison pens.

The wild, swirling battle was witnessed by prisoners of two other unruly compounds—78 and 77.

Boatner was jubilant over the way the paratroopers from the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team quelled the Reds. He said:

"The discipline of the troops was superb. I have an official report that not one shot was fired in Compound 76. We captured the exact plan of resistance."

He referred to the map and papers found inside 76.

Boatner personally had ordered North Korean Col. Lee Hak Woo, a Communist 76 leader, to assemble the POWs for moving. Lee refused.

Undignified Exit
The Communists ducked into freshly dug trenches and waited. Fifteen minutes later the paratroopers attacked. They stormed through the barbed wire fences from several directions.

Twenty minutes after the fighting started Red Colonel Lee was captured.

Rugged paratroopers grabbed him by the seat of the pants and walked him "frog legged"—on hands and knees—out of the compound. Tears streamed down his face. He was clamped in solitary confinement.

Huge Flood Control Project Recommended

BITTERNESS IN GOP RANKS CAN LEAD TO SPLIT

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (P)—The scalding bitterness between the Taft and Eisenhower camps may boil over in their struggle to seat rival delegates at the Republican National Convention next month.

The contest now is focused on disputed delegates in Texas, Georgia, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Taft has offered to compromise on some disputed Southern delegates, although he hasn't said how. The Eisenhower people say no.

If the fight becomes too fierce, it may split the Republicans into such hostile camps that it will cost the party the election. It could happen, and did happen before in the Taft faction.

Happened To His Dad
The senator's father, President William Howard Taft, went through this experience 40 years ago in a rivalry with ex-President Theodore Roosevelt at the Republican National Convention in Chicago where this one will be held, too.

That struggle did more than just break the party into factions. It split the party. Roosevelt ran against Taft on an opposition ticket. The divided Republican vote let Democrat Woodrow Wilson win the election easily.

No one this year is suggesting an exact duplicate of 1912, with the loser in the Taft-Eisenhower fight creating a rival party to run anyway. Eisenhower said last week he'll support the candidate chosen by the convention.

Handpicked Taft
When he was elected in 1904 Theodore Roosevelt said he wouldn't seek or accept another nomination. But he had no intention of losing his political grip altogether when the 1908 elections came around.

He handpicked Taft, his friend and associate, as his successor. And the Republican convention that year accepted Roosevelt's choice. Taft was elected. But not all of Roosevelt's followers liked Taft's four-year administration.

They took Roosevelt so when he came back from an African hunting trip before the 1912 elections. They persuaded him to try for the Republican nomination and another White House term. He did.

Rain Mars Penn State Graduation

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (P)—Some 1,860 seniors of the Pennsylvania State College graduated on Monday in two shifts as rain forced commencement exercises indoors.

The graduates heard Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of The New York Times, declare that isolationism, immediate achievement of world order by imperialism are not practical solutions to world problems.

Baldwin advocated "a middle of the way policy that would unite the free nations of the world against international bullies."

NEW YORK CITY IS LASHED BY STORM; 3 DEAD

NEW YORK (P)—A sudden wind-driven thunderstorm plunged the New York metropolitan area into a howling darkness on Monday for a terrifying half-hour of three deaths and extensive property damage.

In Nassau County, the Long Island Lighting Co. reported that fallen wires knocked out 90 per cent of its electrical service in an area of 800,000 population. Other power failures were reported in Northern New Jersey.

A number of injuries also were reported in the area.

Streets Flooded
Sheets of rain flooded streets in many parts of the metropolitan area. A school in Mineola, N. Y., was temporarily isolated by water-filled streets; and firemen had to carry children to dry ground.

The storm came suddenly early in the afternoon just after record high temperatures for the year were registered. In New York City, the thermometer dropped from 85 to 70 degrees in 10 minutes and at Newark, N. J., from 90 to 70 degrees.

Frequent Visitor Here Is Featured In Boston Paper

Joseph H. Kolb, of Charlestown, Mass., who visits the Gettysburg Battlefield several times a year and has many friends here and whose hobby is collecting "anything that pertains to Gettysburg," is featured in a recent article by William J. Gurney in the Boston Globe.

Mr. Gurney writes as follows:

"This Memorial Day may well be the last for the four surviving Union veterans of the American Civil War. The youngest of this group is one hundred and five years old and the oldest is one hundred and ten. When these men are gone, a whole portion of one of the most colorful and tragic periods of our nation's history will have passed into the ages. General Robert E. Lee, Gen. Sherman and U. S. Grant are now history book names which students struggle with in their studies of the numerous battles of the Civil War. Yet:

"When the Comrades have departed,
When the Veterans are no more,
When the bugle call has sounded
On that everlasting shore;
When life's weary search is ended,
When the campfires slumber long
Who will tell the world the story
When the Boys in Blue have gone?"

Friend of Blue
There is one man in Charlestown, Mass., who will continue to tell their story. Mr. Joseph Kolb's hobby is his collection of original medals, books, pictures and other relics of the Civil War and especially the Battle of Gettysburg. Mr. Kolb's hobby should be more properly called an avocation. His collection of books on Gettysburg numbers more than a hundred and his knowledge of the famous battle is phenomenal, and he is in communication with various Civil War museums and historical societies throughout the country. His own collection of Gettysburg material is probably the largest privately owned in the country, and his knowledge has been enhanced by repeated trips to the battle area.

"As a member of the Theodore Winthrop Camp, Sons of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, Mr. Kolb's interest in the Boys in Blue goes further than collecting material about them. With his son, Joseph Jr., age ten, a student at St. Catherine's Parochial School in Charlestown, he has undertaken the tremendous task of decorating almost two hundred graves of Civil War dead in Garden Cemetery in Chelsea. Young Joseph has acquired his father's interest in Civil War matters.

Several Trips Here

"Mr. Kolb became interested in the Civil War when there were almost as many Grand Army of the Republic vets as there are vets of World War One. With his father, Joseph has made several trips to Gettysburg and other shrines of the War between the States.

"This Memorial Day, as a young boy goes with his father to a self imposed labor of love we can be assured their devotion and care to the memory of The Boys in Blue will not be forgotten. The job of polishing the GAR markers and replacing the flags may seem a simple thing and not worthy of attention. In this day and age of preoccupation with everyday events, the sight of a young boy and his dad praying at the graves of our country's almost forgotten dead is an inspiration which should encourage us to do likewise."

WAGING WAR ON LEAFHOPPERS

Leafhoppers are small sap-sucking insects that feed on a wide range of food and ornamental plants, causing not only a loss of plant vigor by their extraction of the sap, but by a condition known as hopperburn. And in the case of asters they often carry the virus of aster wilt from infected to healthy plants. These pests should be exterminated early or their numbers held at a minimum in both vegetable and flower gardens throughout the growing season.

Most species of leafhopper are pale green when fully grown, extremely active if they are disturbed, and distinctly marked by an "H" or "Y" formation of their wing covers. The nymphs or young are grayish and smaller. Both stages feed chiefly on the under sides of leaves. Evidence of their presence is usually seen first as a stippling or dotting of the leaf surfaces, followed by browning or yellowing of the edges and tips.

Potatoes and garden beans are the most severely damaged food crops, although these pests may occasionally visit other vegetables and fruits. Among ornamental plants attacked by leafhoppers are hollyhock, rose, gladiolus, dahlia, aster, zinnia, marigold, calendula and others. The common potato and bean species is the chief offender on ornamental plants although other species visit asters and roses.

Many inexperienced gardeners consider potato hopperburn as a fungous disease. But it is, in fact, a condition resulting from the direct loss of sap from the foliage plus the probable injection of a toxic material by the hopper. Stricken potato foliage turns brown at the edges and leaf tips and curl upward. The potato condition known as tipburn may be caused by dry, hot weather resulting in partial leaf death by excessive transpiration. Hopperburn may follow heavy infestations of leafhoppers on other plants besides the potato.

Aster wilt is a virus disease. The aster leafhopper here becomes guilty not by causing wilt but by carrying the virus among plants during its feeding migrations. Of course, aster wilt prevention crumbles for strict control of leafhoppers.

Usually the regular program of Bordeaux mixture applications recommended to prevent fungous diseases of potatoes will repel leafhoppers, not because Bordeaux mixture is an insecticide but because the insects apparently do not relish the copper residue left on the leaves. In case these sprays do not keep the pests driven off, special applications of fresh pyrethrum dust are recommended.

Many government publications advise use of DDT for combating leaf hoppers. But, as previously mentioned here, the editor fears general use of this unknown poison, hence the safer pyrethrum dust is advised. This may be used to solve the leafhopper problem on all food and ornamental plants they attack. One part fresh pyrethrum powder containing 1.3 per cent of pyrethrin, as designated on the container, is mixed with three parts superfine dusting sulphur. If a ready-mixed commercial pyrethrum dust is purchased for this role, it should contain at least 0.3 per cent of pyrethrin. Because this is a contact insecticide, it must be applied with the idea of coating the hoppers, not merely the plant surfaces on which they are feeding or are expected to feed.

WHEN WISTERIAS FAIL TO BLOOM

There are indeed few persons who do not admire vigorous wisteria vines laden with blooms and carelessly rambling around porch corridors or clambering into the branches of nearby trees. But what disappointments often come to those who plant their first wisteria and never attain the goal of their anticipations! "My wisteria won't bloom." This complaint is so widespread that the inexperienced gardener may wonder why anyone ever attempts to grow a vine so preposterous. Yet, wisterias are not difficult to manage and they will bloom profusely under simple culture. Here are a few helpful suggestions for those who have experienced the blighted hopes of bloomingless wisterias.

Rarely do seedling wisteria bear blooms. Of course, such plants may grow just as rapidly as high quality plants and produce even a greater mass of foliage, but they often live many years without bearing a single panicle of bloom. And even in the rare instances when flowers are borne, they are few and of poor quality.

There is but one way to avoid this danger in starting — plant grafted plants purchased from a reputable nursery. There are no "bargains" in buying wisteria plants. After grafted plants are well started, cuttings rooted from its shoots will reproduce plants true to the parent. However, sprouts that come up around the base may be starting from the seedling root stock and should not be saved. They are equivalent to seedlings.

Cuttings of nearly ripe wood may be rooted under glass in the fall. Perhaps the easiest way to multiply satisfactory specimens is to layer one or more of the lower branches by pegging the wood to the ground and covering with soil. After plants form at the joints and take root, the vine may be severed and the individual plants later moved to a special bed over winter or to their permanent growing places. Layering should be done in early summer.

There can be no compromise in selecting sites and preparing soils for wisterias. Few other plants root as deeply. And despite their evident hardiness, wisterias resent exposure to prevailing winter winds. Therefore, they should be grown in a somewhat sheltered nook with a southern or eastern exposure where the soil is mellow and fertile to a depth of at least 4 to 6 feet. And too, the site should be well drained every week in the year.

Vigorous grafted nursery plants should be set out in early spring in this latitude. Roots should be kept moist and fully protected from sun and wind before and during planting operations.

For the first year or two the top may be held back by cutting off the most hefty branches. However, experienced growers will sooner or later learn what many others have discovered that wisterias are truly stubborn when it comes to making them grow exactly where the grower wants them to go. If the beginner accepts this prevaricance as a cultural fact, both vine and owner will get along more harmoniously and eventually the vine will prove its merit by deluges of blooms.

Mulch around wisterias in late fall after the ground freezes, using straw manure.

BUSINESS CLUB TO ELECT; PLAN TOWN MEETING

Final plans for the third annual Biglerville Town Meeting will be arranged at a meeting of the Biglerville Business Club to be held at the Biglerville High School at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Also to be arranged is a panel and moderator to lead the discussion on problems of the borough and possible solutions.

Each year since its establishment two years ago, the Biglerville Town Meeting has provided citizens of the community with an opportunity to air their ideas for improvement of the community, and also provided a forum for discussion of various plans for future developments of the town.

The session is scheduled to be held this year on June 20 at the Biglerville Community building.

Also scheduled for tonight's session of the Business Club is an election of club officers for the coming year.

Phillies Ordered To Alter Ticket Plans

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The government has directed the Philadelphia Phillies to drop a plan to sell all star game tickets only at special windows in Shibe Park.

The National League baseball club had announced a plan under which tickets for the July 8 game would be available only to fans attending Phillies games, since they would be sold at windows inside the park.

But the Office of Price Stabilization said nothing doing on the theory that such a plan would in effect involve tie-in sales, because purchasers of all star game tickets would first have to buy tickets to a Phillies game.

RED PRISONERS SLAY 14 FELLOW POWS IN KOJE

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP)—Communist prisoners of war in Compound 77 murdered at least 14 fellow POWs then meekly surrendered to United Nations troops today for dispersal to smaller stockades.

Eight bodies still oozing blood were found in a well by American paratroopers.

Five bodies were found in trenches and another in an abandoned well.

Victims Hands Tied
One victim's hands were tied behind his back. Others had been beaten and ropes were taut around the necks.

Twenty anti-Red prisoners scaled barbed wire fences during the night. They said Red leaders had planned to kill them.

The cleaning out of the enclosure yielded about 65 anti-Communist prisoners who said the evacuation had saved their lives.

Guards Heard Screams
Thirty anti-Reds fell out of line when groups of Communists were marched out.

Thirty-five others assembled in the rear of the compound and waited until all other POWs had been cleared out. Then they marched out.

Two POWs who escaped from Compound 77 told stories of murders during the night.

Thought Boatmen Bluffing
American guards outside the compound said they had heard screams inside.

The two prisoners led officers to tents where they said 15 men disappeared and to a burning rubbish heap where they said two bodies were buried in oil drums 10 to 12 feet underground.

North Korean Col. Lee Hak Koo, a Compound 76 leader now in solitary confinement, told an interrogator he thought Boatmen was bluffing when he said he would move the prisoners by force if necessary.

10 Days To Finish Job
There was an unofficial report that leaders of Compound 95 holding 6,000 North Koreans have told authorities they will not resist dispersal.

Breakup of the island's 17 big compounds holding 80,000 POWs is expected to take about 10 days.

A reliable source said the U.S. Eighth Army was planning to screen Koje's prisoners on whether they want to return to Communist territory in the event of an armistice.

Farm Calendar

New Club Formed—Tomato growers are to have a new organization called the Pennsylvania Master Tomato Growers, sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania Cannery Association and the Agricultural Extension Service of the Pennsylvania State College. Basis of election will be an average of at least 20 tons an acre on all the grower's acreage.

Oats Compared—Oats variety demonstrations are being conducted in 32 counties this year, announces Elmer Pfifer, extension agronomist of the Pennsylvania State College. They will include Clinton 59, Ajax, Zephyr, and Craig which are four of the best varieties. In addition, some demonstrations will include local varieties.

Teach to Roost—An easy way to teach chicks to roost is to stretch a piece of poultry netting across the front of the roosting platform shortly after the chicks have been driven on the platform, reminds F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. Repeat the practice nightly for a week.

Set Good Plants—For transplanting, select vegetable plants that are stocky with strong, well-developed roots, says James Dutt, Penn State extension vegetable specialist. They should be free from disease and be varieties adapted to the locality.

Protect Animals—Treat wounds of livestock with pine tar or one of the newer and improved preparations, such as "Smear 62" or "EQ 335," to repel flies and aid in healing, suggests Thomas King, Penn State extension livestock specialist.

Kill Weeds—Penn State extension vegetable specialists believe that cultivation is about the best weed control in the home garden, but it should be done with judgment—not too often nor too deep.

Make Quality Hay—Legumes and grasses cut at the right stage of growth make the most nutritious hay, says Albert E. Cooper, Penn State extension agronomist. Cut Ladino clover in full bloom, alfalfa 10 per cent in bloom, red clover one-third in bloom, birdsfoot trefoil in full bloom, and grasses just before full bloom.

Control Insects—For control of cucumber beetles, start dusting or spraying when cucumbers and other cucurbits appear above ground, says Edgar Udine, Penn State extension entomologist. Dust with one per cent rotenone or five per cent methoxychlor. For spraying, use rotenone or methoxychlor wettable powder according to directions.

Plant Snap Beans—If you time new plantings right, you can have a fresh crop of snap beans ready for harvest every few weeks, reminds Robert Fletcher, vegetable extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State College. Another way to have a continuous harvest is through use of varieties with different maturity dates.

Chicks Need Room—The most common cause of chick cannibalism is overcrowding of the brooder house floor space, believes F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. Move some of the chicks to other pens or outdoors on tender grass.

Feed Cows Grass—Recent trends in feeding dairy cows have been toward more grass, reports Robert Olmstead, Penn State extension dairy specialist. This grass is in three-forms—pasture, grass silage, and hay. All stimulate milk production.

Former Chemical Officer Is Now Chaplain At Indiantown

A former army chemical officer who used the GI Bill to study for the ministry is back in uniform again, this time as a chaplain.

Chaplain (1st Lt.) Mervin S. Eyer of Littlestown, a recent graduate of the local seminary, was assigned to the 5th Inf. Div. at Indiantown Gap this week.

It was during World War II that the 34-year-old newly-ordained Lutheran minister decided he wanted to be an army chaplain.

"I had always been interested in church work," he explains, "but until the GI Bill was passed after World War II I didn't have the money for the necessary schooling."

Chaplain Eyer was inducted in 1943 and assigned to the Chemical Corps. He received a commission while serving in the European theater during the war.

His interest in the ministry developed more fully while he was doing contact work with the chaplain's staff while a line officer.

Studying under the GI Bill after the war, Chaplain Eyer finished his collegiate work at the University of Baltimore, and in 1949 entered the local seminary.

After his graduation last month, he transferred his reserve commission from the Chemical Corps to the Chaplain's Corps and began another tour of duty.

Chaplain Eyer, his wife and two children now live in Hummelstown. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin L. Eyer of 208 N. Queen St., Littlestown.

FOUR TEACHERS WILL RETURN TO BIGLERVILLE

Four Biglerville High School teachers who left the staff because of the Korean War and other military duties are expected to return this fall to their teaching posts, L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the Upper Adams Joint School System, said today.

Mrs. Ann Sanders, wife of the former band leader at Biglerville High, who resigned as librarian when her husband, Harold Sanders, was called up for duty with the 28th Division, will return to her duties as librarian, succeeding Miss Elaine Steinmetz, of Allentown, who has resigned as librarian to enter the armed forces.

Mr. Sanders, who is in Germany with the armed forces, is also expected back to his duties at Biglerville High School sometime this fall, as is Gene Haas, coach at the school, who was called into service with the 28th at the same time as Sanders.

Malcolm Boyer, who had been metal shop teacher at the school before being recalled for duty with the Air Force, is another teacher scheduled to be back at work in the Biglerville schools this fall. Boyer has completed his required number of missions with the Air Force in Korea and is now at his parent's home in Ashland before returning to Biglerville.

A member of the teaching staff at Biglerville High School has been elected to the presidency of the King's College of Wilkes-Barre Alumni Association. He is William Coradetti, who teaches English and social studies and served as assistant coach of football and basketball at Biglerville. A former resident of Luzerne, Pa., Coradetti was elected president of the King's Alumni group at its second annual reunion held in Wilkes-Barre recently.

3 BASKETBALL "FIXERS" PLEAD GUILTY AT TRIAL

NEW YORK (AP)—Three key fixers in the big college basketball scandal face possible prison sentences of from eight to 11 years and heavy fines when they go before General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit for sentencing on July 2. They were accused of offering bribes to players from Kentucky and Bradley Universities and pleaded guilty yesterday to bribery and conspiracy.

Streit already has sent another fixer to prison for eight to 11 years, and at several court sessions he has blasted college basketball as sordid big business.

Joseph Benintende, 43, bank robber and former Kansas City hoodlum, and Jack (Zip) West, 39, a New Yorker, interrupted their trial before a General Sessions Court jury yesterday to enter their guilty pleas.

Benintende Headed Ring
A few minutes later, Jack Rubinstein, 35, a one-time New York convicted felon, entered the courtroom and offered his own guilty plea. He was scheduled for trial next week. One conspiracy count also charged Rubinstein plotted to bribe Toledo University players between 1949 and 1951.

Involved in the plots were players from second string all the way up to All America Gene Melchiorre, one of Bradley's 1949-50 stars. Benintende allegedly headed the ring which was ready to bet $50,000 on a single fixed game. Players usually were not asked to throw games, but to hold their winning margins down to the point spread that would guarantee the gamblers' bets.

Others Await Sentence
West and Benintende were the first of the 25 accused fixers actually to go on trial since the basketball scandal broke in February, 1951. The others have admitted their guilt in advance or are awaiting sentence.

West was continued in $50,000 bail and Rubinstein in $35,000 bail pending sentencing. Benintende, once questioned in the unsolved 1950 slaying of Kansas City Democratic leader Charles Binaggio, was recommended to jail to await sentence.

Sen. Martin Votes Against Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) voted with the majority when Senate defeated 52 to 28 a plant seizure plan proposed yesterday by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.). Also voting against the proposal were 33 other Republicans and 18 Democrats.

In another Senate rollcall, Martin voted with the majority as the Senate approved 49 to 30 the Byrd amendment to the controls act requesting President Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act immediately.

In the last of the day's heavy list of roll call votes, the Senate by a vote of 47 to 32 defeated an amendment by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) to the controls law designed to give President Truman temporary seizure powers in the current steel dispute. Martin voted against the amendment.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) was not listed as voting or paired on any of the roll calls.

Istrator, in disclosing the list, added, however, that the allotments might be held up because of the current steel strike.

1,600 FFA AT STATE COLLEGE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Educational demonstrations were on the agenda today for 1,600 Pennsylvania farm youths attending the annual Activities Week program of the State Future Farmers of America.

The three-day series of competitions and demonstrations opened on the campus of the Pennsylvania State College yesterday.

The boys, chosen from the state's more than 10,000 FFA members are competing during the program in a variety of tests ranging from tractor driving to public speaking. Awards will be made before the sessions conclude.

Frank R. Hatcher, Greensburg, the state president, outlined at an assembly the important role that FFA work plays in development of high ideals of citizenship among the rural youth of the nation.

The assembly included music by the 100-piece FFA band, songs by the state FFA chorus and numbers by individual members.

GOING SLOW ON PROSECUTIONS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside announced today the commonwealth will go slow in prosecuting 37 municipalities along the Susquehanna River for failing to build sewage treatment plants.

"I am asking the Sanitary Water Board for a detailed report on each municipality and will direct one of my deputies to re-examine each case prior to instituting drastic legal action," Woodside said in a statement.

The attorney general said there will be "no hurried, wholesale action" brought against the municipalities and their elected officials for failing to comply with the commonwealth's clean program.

The board last month referred to the Justice Department the cases of 37 municipalities after the communities failed to construct sewage treatment plants by June 1. They had been under orders to do so for more than a year.

Action against the municipalities, Woodside said, won't be taken until "after all other means of persuasion had been exhausted in cases of flagrant and persistent failure of the officials to carry out their duty to the commonwealth and their community."

EMMITSBURG HI ALUMNI HOLD ANNUAL EVENT

One hundred and seventy-eight members and guests of the Emmitsburg High School Alumni Association assembled Saturday evening for the annual banquet and dance in the banquet hall and the auditorium of the new high school annex. This was the first meeting of the association in the new building.

The invocation was given by Vice President Carroll E. Froek Jr., the president of the association, Col. Thomas J. Frailey, who served as toastmaster, reported the previously authorized planting of two memorial trees in recognition of meritorious service rendered by John Calvin Franklin and Clifford Waybright Shriver, deceased past presidents. These trees were planted on April 9 in front of the high school with appropriate ceremonies. The association adopted unanimously a resolution extending sincere thanks to J. Donald Agnew, of Cambridge, Ohio, president of Universal Pottery and the National Pottery Association of America, a member of the Class of 1912, for his generous gift of 12 dozen cups and saucers. Mr. Agnew expressed regret in being unable to attend the banquet due to illness.

Prizes, totaling $25, were voted to the graduating class, effective 1953, ten dollars thereof to be awarded annually to the best all-around boy, with the same amount annually to the best all-around girl and a second prize of $5. The regular award of $5 was authorized for the best student of the Class of 1952. A committee was named by the president, consisting of Lucy Higbee Corl, William A. Frailey and Ray D. Riley, to decide on a gift from the association for the new high school annex. Mrs. George S. Eyster made a special plea to the members for assistance in securing information, including current addresses, needed to complete a directory which will include noteworthy activities of all graduates.

One There From '02
The 15 members of the Class of 1952 were admitted to membership in the alumni association. Carrie Hahn, president, spoke for the Class of 1952 and the members then sang their class song. Among the guests introduced were George Martin, member of the Board of Education of Frederick County, and Professor Arvin P. Jones, principal of the high school. Mrs. Madeline Frailey Freeman was the only representative present of the honored Class of 1902 and a program of the commencement of that year, submitted by Mary Weigand Herring, of Westminster, Md., who expressed regret in being unable to attend, was read by the toastmaster. A corsage of roses was presented to Mrs. Freeman, who was also the recipient of a gift from her classmate, Mrs. Herring, to whom a corsage was forwarded.

William Simpson of the Class of 1941 gave several vocal selections, accompanied on the piano by Esther Martin. A vote of thanks was expressed by the president, consisting of Lucy Higbee Corl, William A. Frailey and Ray D. Riley, to decide on a gift from the association for the new high school annex. Mrs. George S. things to other people.

Follow my doctor's advice about nose and throat operations, inoculations or teeth extractions during the polio season.

Be ever watchful for signs of polio: Headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, tenderness and stiffness of the neck and back.

Call my doctor at once and, in the meantime, put to bed and away from others any member of the family showing such symptoms.

I WILL NOT:

Allow my children to mingle with strangers, especially in crowds, or to go into homes outside their own circle. There are three different viruses that cause polio. My children's group may be immune to one of these. Strangers may carry another polio virus to which they are not immune.

Let my children get fatigued or chilled. Overworked or chilled bodies are less able to fight off polio.

Take my children away from their community without good cause. Polio time is the time to stay home and keep with everyday companions.

If Polio Strikes My Home, I WILL:

Have confidence in my doctor, knowing the earlier the care, the better my children's chances of complete recovery. I know that my child has a better than even chance to recover without paralysis.

Call my Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis immediately for information or help.

Remember that whatever financial help my family needs for polio care will be given through the Chapter. This is made possible by gifts of the American people to the March of Dimes each January.

GOVERNOR FINE UNCOMMITTED, UNPERTURBED

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania's Gov. John S. Fine who, many Republican leaders say, may be the single most important delegate to the GOP national convention, is today uncommitted, undecided — and unimpressed by the excitement his stand has created.

He is uncommitted as to how he will vote at Chicago next month. Fine says so, and not even his most intimate friends or political associates profess to know where the governor stands. But Fine is confident that a big majority of Pennsylvania's 70 convention votes will be lined up with him when the presidential candidate is nominated.

He also is undecided as to when he will make up his mind on that candidate. When he does, he says, it will be "on issues and not on candidates." He believes that the most important question before the nation is the "tremendous expenditures" of the federal government.

Unimpressed By Furor
"Security and peace depend on the solvency of this country," the governor says.

And the husky, balding former judge is unimpressed by all the furor swirling around him. Fine's vote, as a delegate-at-large, is important; much more so is his influence with other Pennsylvania delegates.

These factors in the situation were made apparent in an interview with the Associated Press, in which the governor discussed his views on the campaign issues. He declined to comment on the record concerning candidates or the delegates' position, and would not disclose any new details of his talk last Sunday with Dwight D. Eisenhower, or previous conversations with Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The Pennsylvania delegation's 70 votes are officially and actually uncommitted and uncommitted, although many members have expressed personal preferences.

The most recent AP poll shows 26 favoring Eisenhower, 18 backing Taft and 32 undecided or unwilling to state a preference. Backers of both candidates claim a bigger share of the delegation.

The number of delegates Fine could bring to his candidate is the biggest question, but by every available estimate it is a very substantial group. The governor—who is delegation chairman—believes there would be not less than 32, and possibly more.

INDICT SHAVER, 3 ASSOCIATES

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Federal Grand Jury Tuesday indicted Charles E. Shaver on charges of accepting $3,100 in fees to push cases before government agencies while he was counsel for the Senate Small Business Subcommittee.

Wiping up an investigation which started last February, the grand jury also indicted three associates of Shaver. They were accused of aiding the allegedly unlawful deals. Shaver was charged on 11 counts in three indictments with violating a federal law which prohibits any government employee from accepting compensation to represent outside parties before government agencies in any matter in which the government is interested.

Shaver faces a total of possible maximum penalty of 23 years in prison and $10,000 in fines, or both, if convicted. However, maximum sentences are rarely imposed.

Others indicted along with Shaver were Leonard H. Cooper of Miami, Jerome H. Weinkle, Miami attorney, and Raymond W. Lopatka, Chicago attorney.

Sea Scouts Paddle Down Susquehanna

HARRISBURG (AP)—Five canoe loads of sea scouts from Sunbury camped on Monday on Island Park here on their 125-mile journey down the Susquehanna River to Perryville, Md.

They paddled on to Marietta Tuesday and hope to reach Perryville by Friday. In previous years they have toured both branches of the Susquehanna above Sunbury.

The trip started Sunday and has been smooth going so far. They camped the first night at the mouth of the Mahantango Creek and came through the rough water south of Clarks Ferry without difficulty.

DROWNS TRYING TO SAVE YOUTH

READING, Pa. (AP)—A 20-year-old Pennsylvania State College student drowned in nearby Maiden Creek on Monday while responding to the cries of a schoolboy who had suffered a case of cramps.

Drowned was Chester Motkowski, former Reading Central Catholic High School athlete. Motkowski dove into the creek near the Bowers Country Club and swam to the assistance of Jack Feist, 12, a pupil at St. Margaret's Parochial School.

Ironically, the schoolboy recovered from his cramps attack just as Motkowski was collapsing in the water ten feet from him.

The younger boy attempted to help his intended rescuer and held his hand for a short time before losing his grip. Feist then swam ashore and yelled for help.

Dr. Paul Good, Berks County coroner, reporting he would sign a certificate of accidental drowning, said he believed, however, the college student had suffered a heart attack.

Rescue Efforts By Father Fail; 2 Die

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP)—Rescue efforts by George Smith, 45, of near by Lincoln Township failed Monday to save his two sons, Joseph, 13, and David, 11, from drowning in the Youghiogheny River near McKeesport.

A third youth, who was standing on the bank, summoned Smith and several other persons when the boys began calling for help. The youth, Karl Steinkopf, 10, told rescuers: "I meant to go in, too, but I changed my mind. First, David yelled for help. Joe started to get excited and just disappeared under the water. I got a stick about five feet long and held it out in the water but it wasn't long enough to reach David. Then I ran for help."

Monday night in a plunge from his third-floor private room in Sacred Heart Hospital.

He had been admitted to the hospital on Sunday. Yerger was an account collector for the Norristown Times-Herald for 30 years. He was seen on the windowsill of his room by a hospital employee minutes before plunging to his death.

Near Record Wheat Crop Seen This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official forecast of a near-record wheat crop raised the question today of whether the government will seek lowered production next year to avoid a burdensome surplus in that grain.

The Agriculture Department said in a crop report yesterday that the wheat harvest may total 1,326,000,000 bushels. This would be second only to the 1947 crop of 1,367,000,000 bushels, and about a third larger than last year's crop.

A yield of this size would be about 231 million bushels more than the department has said will be necessary to meet domestic and export requirements. This extra grain would be added to an existing reserve of about 290 million bushels.
